MOB HANGS TWO AT MARSHALL

PRISONERS TAKEN FROM MARSHALL, TEX., JAIL IN DEAD OF NIGHT.

30 OR 40 CITIZENS IN MOB

Weariness of Court Leniency and Executive Clemency in Texas People Take Law in Their Own Hands.

Marshall, Tex., April 30.—Two negroes, under indictment in connection with the killing of Deputy Sheriff M. C. Huffman and the wounding of another officer early Monday morning, were taken from the Harrison County jail between 2 and 3 o'clock this morning by between thirty and forty lynchers and hanged to a large willow tree, near Pope's gin, in the southern section of this place. The soldiers who had been on guard at the jail had been sent away shortly before midnight, no trouble being anticipated by the authorities. The coroner's verdict was that the negroes were hanged by parties unknown. The negroes lynched were Mose Hill and Mat Chase. Jesse Jefferson was not molested by the mob.

Preceding Hours Quiet.

Last night the city was quiet and the streets were clear and quiet, at a very early hour and everything had steadied down to normal conditions and no further trouble was anticipated. About 11 o'clock Sheriff Cargill went to the jail and told the state militia that their services were no longer needed and soon they were busy packing up their traps and getting ready to go home. They had been on duty since last Monday evening and this was welcome news to them and as they were leaving the jail someone started the song, "God Bless with You, We Meet Again."

Jail Takes Statement.

Jesse Stotz, jailer, this morning said: "It was between 2 and 3 o'clock this morning when I heard someone rattle the front door of the jail, and I went to the door and asked who it was and they told me it was Pat Connors and Jim Cole, but it was not them, and that they had a prisoner and they wanted to put him in jail. The light had been broken that hung in front of the door and as I looked out through the side window I could not see anyone. I went to the other side and could see the brim of someone's hat, standing with his back to the door, and at the same time I could see two men, one standing behind a tree on either side of the gate, on the outside, and I replied, 'Boys, you are trying to fool me,' and went back into the room.

"Soon I could hear the tramp of many feet in the jail yard and in a few seconds I heard the sound of the big pole as it hit the wall. I told the boys not to tear down the jail. The hole was punched in the jail and soon the men swarmed into the room. There must have been between thirty and forty of them and all that I saw were disguised, and those that were not I could not tell who they were.

"They cut the telephone wire and shoved me back into the room and three of them stood with their backs to me across the doorway. I told them not to break the telephone wire, but to just let the receiver hang down, but they broke the wire anyway.

"In the meantime the men had taken the keys away from me and gone upstairs, where the prisoners were in the cage, and unlocked the cage. They got hold of Jefferson first, but let him go, as they wanted the two who were charged with the murder, and took 'Creole Mose' and Mat Chase out and came downstairs and left the jail with them."

Story of Officer's Killing.

The crime which the negroes paid the penalty for is well known to every one in this section of the country. Deputy Sheriff Mark Huffman and Deputy Constable Alex Cargill went to the railroad camp to make an arrest and were fired upon as soon as they opened the flap of the tent where the negroes were. Huffman was killed outright and Cargill was wounded in the arm. Cargill returned to the city and gave the alarm. By day light armed men were scouring the country, and about fifty negroes were placed in jail from the railroad camp in the eastern portion of the city.

Officers soon learned that the negroes who were wanted for the murder were Mose Hill, better known as "Creole Mose," and Mat Chase and Jesse Jefferson.

Mat Chase was the first one to be captured, and that was only accomplished after he had put up a stout resistance to the citizens of Waskom, who had him surrounded in an old house, and then not until after he had fired many shots from a 35-caliber revolver, and tried to break it to pieces against a chimney in the inside of the building. He was brought back to Marshall and landed in jail, and later in the evening the two negroes, Mose Hill and Jesse Jefferson, were captured between Jonesville and Waskom and taken to Shreveport on the night train by Sheriff Cargill and deputies, who went from this city. The prisoners were brought back to Marshall on the night train and reached here at 1 o'clock. The train was stopped at the foundry and the prisoners taken off, and in charge of a few men were rushed to the jail through the deserted streets, while the remainder of the posse and Sheriff Cargill came on up to the station, and the prisoners were in jail and few in Marshall knew that they were here until the next morning.

Special Term of Court.

Judge Buford and District Attorney Jones came from Longview and a special term of the District Court was ordered, after a consultation with the officers and citizens.

Special jury commissioners were appointed, the grand jury was drawn and as soon as the names were placed in the hands of the sheriff the men were summoned and the grand jury was impaneled and went to work Wednesday morning. They were in session all that day, and on Thursday morning Judge Buford received their report. The prisoners signed a waiver of being present when the special venire was drawn and soon the commissioners were busy drawing a special venire of sixty men to serve as petit jurors.

Counsel from the local bar was appointed for the prisoners, and after some discussion Judge Buford set the cases for next Monday, at which time the prisoners would be tried as indicted by the grand jury—Mose Hill and Mat Chase for murder and assault to murder, and they, with Jesse Jefferson for robbery by firearms.

After the decision of the court to hold the trial on next Monday everything became quiet, and it seemed that every one was willing to wait and let the law take its course and all danger of lynching seemed to have disappeared. Then, last night, the militia was withdrawn.

About 5 o'clock this morning the fire department responded to a call and the bell rang, bringing several people to the scene of the lynching. The two negroes lynched were from Louisiana.

The bodies were buried by the county this morning, as no relatives could be located.

Statement of Negroes.

Jesse Jefferson and another negro prisoner named Mart Sheppard, who were lying on cots outside the cell where the three negroes were confined, made the following statement:

"When the leader of the mob opened the cell he struck a match and asked 'Which is Jesse Jefferson?' Jefferson replied, 'Me.' 'Stand aside then,' was the reply. 'We want Mat Chase and Creole Mose.' Mose walked out without saying a word. Mat said, 'I got to hell fighting,' and made a desperate resistance, but was overcome and the two were taken out. The cell was unlocked and the crowd left the jail.

"The only noise we heard," said Jefferson, "was about seven thumps against the brick wall. We knew what it was, and could tell when the wall gave way. There was no loud talking and very little excitement except with us."

Sheriff Testifies.

Sheriff B. A. Cargill, being sworn, testified as follows:

"I am sheriff of Harrison county, Tex. Yesterday morning when Judge Buford called his court ordered a venire and set the trial of the cases of Mose Hill and Mat Chase, everyone seemed to be satisfied, and I heard no more threats of a lynching, and after being among the citizens all during the day, I did not deem it necessary to keep the militia on guard and called them off.

"I knew nothing of any further trouble and had no right or intention to anticipate further trouble or violence until this morning after 7 o'clock, when I was informed that Mose Hill and Mat Chase had been hanged."

Verdict of Coroner.

"The State of Texas, County of Harrison—I, S. F. Perry, Justice of the peace in and for precinct No. 3, Harrison County, Tex., after taking the evidence and viewing the dead bodies of Mose Hill and Mat Chase, do hereby find that said parties came to their death on the south side of the city of Marshall, in Harrison county, Tex., on the morning of April 30, 1909, at about 2 o'clock a. m., by being hanged with a rope to a tree by unknown parties."

A local photographer went down early and got a picture of the negroes hanging and made quite a number of them, which were sold. The pictures were taken up later and sale stopped by the authorities.

MABEN MOTION OVERRULED.

Will Have Till Friday to File Writ of Prohibition.

Shawnee, Okla., April 30.—Judge Rosser, presiding over a special session of the district court, today overruled the motion of District Judge Mablen to quash indictments against him. The defendant alleged intimidation of witnesses and that the grand jury was improperly drawn. The court also held that the district court had power to remove Judge Mablen pending a trial on the charges, but allowed him until Tuesday to file a petition for writ of prohibition with the supreme court and have same passed upon. Attorney General West agreed to waive all technicalities and take the writ to Guthrie himself and file it and appear for Judge Rosser in order to get a speedy decision. The attorney for the defendant objected to this, however.

Michigan Going Dry.

Detroit, Mich., April 30.—Tonight 585 saloons and ten breweries in 19 counties of Michigan which voted dry at the last election, closed their doors. Thirty of the 83 counties in the state are now dry.

CYCLONE LEAVES TRAIL OF DEATH

SOUTHERN AND MIDDLE WESTERN STATE SUFFER FEARFUL LOSS OF LIFE AND PROPERTY.

50 TO 75 PEOPLE LOSE LIVES

Tennessee Suffered Most Severely—List of Dead and Wounded May Increase.

Louisville, Ky., April 30.—Dispatches gathered throughout the south by the Associated Press indicate that from 50 to 75 people met sudden death in the great wind that loosed havoc throughout the section. The number of injured is probably threefold the list of the killed and it will probably be several days before a complete list can be gathered.

While the storm, which reached the south from the upper Mississippi valley early today left its scar on Mississippi, Arkansas, Kentucky, Alabama, Missouri and more remote states, Tennessee perhaps suffered the most severely.

It is substantiated that 60 people were killed, distributed among the following towns: Young's Crossing, 5; Fayetteville, 15; Noblesville, 1; Hardeman county, 1; Medina, 4; Clarksville, 1; Centerville, 1; Franklin, 1; Hillsboro, 4; Somerville, 3; Laconia, 2; Bells, 2; Quito, 8; Giles county, 12.

Arkansas Suffers.

Mississippi's most disastrous point was Horn Lake, where six met death. Arkansas reports a total of 12 dead, while likelihood that it will be added to as the inaccessible wire points are picked up. Alabama has four dead near Hartsell. Kentucky reported much property damage, but no deaths while Missouri has seven killed at Somerville and Golden, Georgia lost two when a boat capsized in Atlanta.

Fair and frosts for two nights is the portion of the south reporting to Louisville is officially forecasted here.

In Arkansas the towns which lay in the path of the recent tornado at Brinkley suffered most. They were West Marion, Weakley and Vicinage. In Crawford county ninety persons were reported to have been injured. This is the country about Fort Smith. Monmouth Springs reported eight dead.

List of the Dead.

Fayetteville, Tenn., fifteen dead. Young's Crossing, Tenn., five dead. Medina, Tenn., four dead. Quito, Tenn., eight dead. Giles county, Tenn., twelve dead. Noblesville, Tenn., one dead. Clarksville, Tenn., one dead. Centerville, Tenn., one dead. Franklin, Tenn., one dead. Hillsboro, Tenn., four dead. Somerville, Tenn., three dead. Laconia, Tenn., two dead. Hardeman county, Tenn., one dead. Horn Lake, Miss., six dead. Mammoth Hot Springs, Ark., eight dead.

Hartsell, Ala., one dead. Monroe, Ga., three dead. Harms, Tenn., five dead. Golden, Mo., six dead. King's River, five dead. Chicago and vicinity, eleven dead. Summerville, Mo., two dead. Texas City, Mo., four dead. Plinn Point, Miss., one dead. Jackson, Miss., seven dead.

Reports from vessels on the great lakes are yet meager, but it is thought that many sailors have lost their lives, reports coming in at various ports bearing news of ships floundering in the high seas and winds. It is thought several have sunk to the bottom of the lakes.

Kansas Liquor Ruling.

Topeka, Kan., April 30.—In a carefully prepared statement issued today, Attorney General Fred S. Jackson holds that if the present state laws are enforced, clubs where liquor is used, cannot be maintained in Kansas. He declares that clubs may not furnish or assist in furnishing liquor to members when the club receives pay for the same in any way.

PAYNE TARIFF BILL COMPLETE FROST

AN IDEA OF HOW REPUBLICAN
POLITICIANS PLAY HORSE
WITH THE PEOPLE.

Washington Correspondent Shows
How the American Working Man
Gets the Hooks.

Washington, April 29.—If the cost of living increased 47.4 per cent during the 10 years of the Dingley tariff between 1896 and 1907, how much will it cost the average family to live under the tariff bill now before congress?

This is a problem in tariff arithmetic for the public to think over while congress is preparing to pass the Payne bill with a few minor changes. The Payne bill, after revision by the senate finance committee, is admittedly an advance in rates over the Dingley or present tariff law. Just how much of an advance, not even the republicans know for a certainty. The increase over present rates is estimated all the way from 1.44 to 30 per cent. The exact increase cannot be known until the last administrative feature of the bill has been incorporated, which will probably be in the few minutes just preceding the passage of the measure.

To understand what the real meaning of an increase of tariff rates over the Dingley law is to the consumer, the record of the effect of the Dingley tariff is interesting.

Dunn's commercial agency has for years kept careful track of prices of the commodities which are of general daily consumption. The cost of living increased 47.4 per cent during the ten years of the Dingley tariff preceding 1907. What could be bought for $72.46 in July, 1897, cost $106.79 in June 1906. The rise was steady and gradual.

While wages during the same period increased nominally 18 per cent the cost of living increased 29.4 per cent in advance of wages.

The Statistical Abstract of the United States shows the effect of the Dingley law on various commodities. In reading each of the following comparisons it should be borne in mind the present tariff bill materially increases the Dingley tariff:

Breadstuffs costing $19.50 in 1896 cost $18.16 in 1907.

Meats costing $7.05 in 1896 cost $9.64 in 1907.

Dairy and garden costing $7.87 in 1896 cost $14.46 in 1907.

Other food costing $8.53 in 1896 cost $9.82 in 1907.

Clothing costing $13.60 in 1895 cost $20.10 in 1907.

Metals costing $13.23 in 1896 cost $17.52 in 1907.

Miscellaneous items costing $13.52 in 1896 cost $19.24 in 1907.

"The increase of the cost of wearing apparel and foodstuffs under the Dingley tariff was gradual and steady," said Hon. James M. Graham of Illinois, in a master tariff speech in the house. "Figures speak eloquently of the absolutely scientific manner in which the workingman's wages are reduced in fact, although the unions have been able to obtain a slight nominal increase. They give the laborer 18 cents with one hand and take 47 cents from him with the other."

The condition of labor at the end of ten years' operation of the Dingley tariff was shown at a meeting of the prominent labor men of the country at the office of Former Secretary of Commerce and Labor Oscar S. Straus, on Feb. 10, 1909.

Samuel Gompers, on behalf of the American Federation of Labor, reported that he had sent out circular letters to the executive officers of the international trade unions in December, 1908, and from the replies gathered the following information:

Blacksmiths, 330 per cent unemployed, those employed averaging about four days a week; carpenters, 40 per cent unemployed; cigar makers, 10 per cent unemployed; commercial telegraphers, 30 per cent unemployed; freight handlers, 30 per cent unemployed; hod carriers and building laborers, 30 per cent unemployed; butcher workmen, 40 per cent unemployed; tobacco workers, working on two-thirds time; iron moulders, 70 per cent unemployed.

Mr. Gompers: I am sure it is not an exaggeration to say that there are now in our country, and have been with very little variation since October, 1907, nearly 2,000,000 wage earners unemployed.

Secretary Straus: Do you mean that before that period those 2,000,000 wage earners were employed?

Mr. Gompers: I do, sir.

HON. EDGAR S. RATLIFF

Has Accepted the Position of Probate
Clerk of Pontotoc County.

Hon. Edgar S. Ratliff has been appointed clerk of the probate court of Pontotoc county.

It is thought by the News that the measure of positive satisfaction of the Pontotoc people with this appointment will be in exact proportion to the number of people who are acquainted with the general ability and character of such new incumbent.

Mr. Ratliff is a graduate of the University of Texas. He has been engaged in the practice of law in this district and county during the past five years, during which time he has impressed the bar and citizenship generally as being a studious, well balanced gentleman and of sufficient grasp to understand and appreciate those important conditions reflecting on the welfare of this county, with which he will be confronted as probate clerk and sufficient courage and initiative to get such impressive reports and recommendations up to the probate court that those conditions may be ameliorated in behalf of the people.

The News commends Judge Terrell and county commissioners on securing the services of Mr. Ratliff, who also had something to do with securing the Ada Normal.

Judge W. G. Currie, who had, under agreement, been giving part of his time to the business of the probate clerkship was compelled to resign on account of the demand of his substantial practice.

BIG STORE FOR ADA.

Largest Department Store in South-

Mr. J. B. Wall, mention of whom was made in these columns yesterday, has consummated his plans for opening at this place a large department store. He will occupy both ground floor apartments of the Henley & Biles building on Main street. Carpenters are at work today making the necessary changes and improvements in the building and Mr. Wall is of the opinion that he will be ready for business within ten days. An immense canvas sign was placed across the building this afternoon on which is the following: "This building will be occupied by the Texas Department Store which will carry everything from baby shoes to steam threshers."

Col. Woolard is rapidly achieving fame, if not a comfortable fortune, through the sale of his booklets of his composition and compilations. He is an Ada property owner and is constantly singing Ada's praises from St. Louis to Colorado Springs.

THE INEFFICIENT MINISTER.

From the Baptist Journal.

Dr. Pritchett, of the Carnegie Foundation for the advancement of Teaching, has attracted wide attention to his last annual report by remarks upon the economic difficulties of the modern preacher. He observes that unless the solution of the Roman-Catholic Church is accepted, under which preachers are celibate priests and draw their support from the church, neither preaching nor teaching can be considered independent of economic relations to the social order. The altruistic motive may be applauded, but the facts teach us that the ablest men go elsewhere for their life professions. He declares that "the low standards of admission, coupled with the multiplication of sects and church-buildings, have brought into the profession of the ministry a large number of ill-trained men, and have at the same time brought down the financial recompense of the minister to a very low basis—the basis, indeed, of the inefficient man." He writes further:

"Much has been said in recent years of the decay of churches, and the weakening of church ties, particularly among protestants. Many explanations have been given of this tendency. No doubt many factors have a share in the result which we see. Among these one of the most evident is the inefficiency of the ministry, due in the main to low standards of admission. In the Protestant churches, where the power of authority has largely passed by, the work of the church depends on the quality of the religious leadership of its preachers. The efficiency of this leadership is low. In the small towns one finds the same conditions as exist among lawyers and physicians. Four or five ministers eke out a living where one or two at most could do the work efficiently. Like the doctors of their villages, these men concern themselves with chronic cases and specific remedies, while the great problems of the moral health of their communities go untouched.

"The old mother church has pursued a more far-sighted policy in this matter than the majority of her daughters. She requires of all her priests a long and severe training. However one may criticize the kind of education which they receive, or the large factor of loyalty to the ecclesiastical organization which forms part of it, the wisdom of the requirement is unquestionable. To it is due in very large measure the enormous moral power of the Roman-Catholic church throughout the world, particularly among the great masses of working people in the cities where protestantism has been so markedly ineffective, partly, at least, because of defects that an adequate modern education would go far toward remedying."

"It is impossible to estimate how much the cause of religious progress is delayed by the fact that a great proportion of the men who assume, as representatives of the Christian denominations, to take the place of religious leaders, are unprepared for such leadership, are untrained in the fundamentals of theology, in the elements of learning, in knowledge of mankind, in the interpretation of life from the religious rather than from the denominational standpoint. Meager as are the salaries paid, they are in many cases equal to the service rendered. In this situation the public is profoundly interested.

"The public can form no sound conclusion whether a Methodist or a Baptist is likely to be the more efficient religious leader any more than it can determine whether a homeopath or an allopath is the more likely to be an efficient practitioner of medicine. Of one thing only it can be sure, and that is that whether a man undertakes to lead in one religious organization or another, he ought to have grounded himself in the fundamental studies which lie at the basis of all religious teaching, of all intellectual and spiritual leadership. Training counts for as much here as in any other human relation.

"The raising of the efficiency of the profession of the ministry rests largely in the hands of preachers themselves, just as the raising of the profession of the law rests with lawyers, and the raising of the profession of medicine rests with physicians. That the effort presents for any particular Christian organization serious social, administrative, and economic difficulties can not be denied. That the advancement of religious influence in the lives of men rests in large measure on this effort seems equally clear."

These statements led a daily paper to seek rebuttal or confirmation from Dr. Aked, of the Fifth Avenue Baptist church, and his words, reproduced in The Christian Work and Evangelist (New York), are a practical confirmation of the charges. He writes:

"I should think that Dr. Pritchett is quite right when he says that the profession of the preacher has not kept pace with the enormous advance in popular education. In that respect he does right to contrast the ministry with the progress made by the professions of law and medicine. He insists that the ministry has relatively retrograded. His opportunities of forming a judgment have been greater than mine. Personally I should think that he is right. When he says 'The standards of admission to the ministry have not kept pace with the general progress,' he puts his finger upon one secret of the whole trouble.

"Few things are more grievous than the spectacle of really intellectual, highly educated, devoted young men turned back from the ministry. A ministerial friend of my own vouches for the truth of this statement, which he makes from his own personal knowledge of the university in question. Man after man of great ability and great attainments and high character, intending to devote himself to the ministry, before his university career closes has changed his mind and gone into law or railroad work or journalism and literature or something else, simply because he was too big a man to pass through the miserable little wicket gate set up by the keepers of the denominations. These men have left themselves called to maintain the orthodoxy of the churches, a narrow, stupid, shoddy, little orthodoxy, out of harmony with our modern thinking denied by all that we know today under the continuous operations of the Living Spirit of God. Men who respect themselves, real men, men who have t in them to do some good in the world, are not going to stultify themselves by submitting to the absurd little tests which these absurd little men propose.

"Certainly, I can give you an instance which came under my own observation. There is in this city what is called a Permanent Council of a certain denomination. This council decides whether a candidate for the ministry shall be ordained or not. I have been present on more than one occasion; I have seen at least one young man, university-trained, of conspicuous ability, bearing a name honored in his own denomination, badgered by the most belated questions about the beliefs which ought long ago to have been relegated to the junk-heap. It made me sick to hear men asking questions about the doctrine of everlasting punishment and about the verbal inspiration of the Bible and about things that a decent man ought to be ashamed to bring up for discussion in the twentieth century. The fact is that only little men with little minds in little positions can afford to give their time to this sort of folly, and they like it. I do not mean in one denomination or in another, but speaking generally of the denominations, the really able man, such as Dr. Pritchett wants to see in the ministry, is not going to submit to such nonsense."—Literary Digest.

The Ada National.

The Comptroller of the Currency only requires banks to retain 15 per cent of their deposits in reserve, considering that such amount held in reserve is evidence of safety, but the Ada National bank in its published statement under the late call from the Comptroller goes him several better by showing a reserve of substantially 50 per cent of its deposits and as well the deposits continue to that substantial amount, even at this season of the year which enables this pioneer institution to show a good strong loan and discount amount.

The Ada National is indeed one of the strong banking institutions of the county.

RESPONSIBILITY OF LEADERSHIP

From the Baptist Journal.

Last fall a "bell wether" slipped on a hillside and fell into a river; 11,000 sheep followed him and were drowned. A great leader of men does not fall down. His slip may be the slip of a multitude of his followers. In its fall the might oak bends and breaks many small trees that have flourished in its shelter.

STATUES.

From the Baptist Journal.

In London, England mere stands an equestrian statue of St. George. The horse is stationary with the forefoot lifted midway from the ground. He is just about to go somewhere, but he hasn't started yet.

You go back there two years from now and you will find him in the very same place and just about to start. The birds have built their nests in his ears.

There is more than one congregation where there are St. George's statues—people who are just about to do right, but who never accomplish anything worth while. They are just about to do something for missions, for temperance, or evangelism, but if you go back to them in two years, six years, or ten years, you will find them where you left them and still just about to start.

It grates on the nerves of a sensitive person to look on this equestrian statue in London. It makes one wish for a dynamite bomb to help it move on.

A generous use of gospel dynamite is one remedy to aid equestrian statues in a congregation to move forward.

MOVE TO AMEND OKLAHOMA CONSTITUTION

INITIATIVE PETITION TO REMOVE CAPITOL FROM GUTHRIE.

Petition Was Prepared by Oklahoma City Chamber of Commerce.

Guthrie, Ok., April 30.—Initiative petitions have been prepared by attorneys acting for the Oklahoma City Chamber of Commerce submitting to the people an amendment to the constitution that will permit removal of the state capital from Guthrie, also a bill proposing to relocate the seat of government.

As the enabling act fixed the capital in Guthrie until after 1913 and that act was accepted by the constitutional convention, an amendment to the constitution is regarded as a legal necessity. In the bill of location three candidates are proposed, namely, Oklahoma City, Guthrie and Shawnee, with provision for other towns getting on the ticket. Under this procedure should the Constitution be amended, the location sought in the second measure would become effective.

If the constitutional amendment fails, it is generally agreed that location can not be made until the time fixed by the enabling act expires. The First Legislature submitted an amendment to the constitution granting power to remove the capital from Guthrie, but it failed before the people last summer for the want of a constitutional majority. A similar amendment introduced in the Second Legislature did not pass. It is now intended to submit the questions at a special election to be held in July or August, when practically a majority vote will determine. More than twenty thousand signatures are required in each instance to initiate.

Cannot Sustain Conviction.

Guthrie, Ok., April 30.—Oklahoma attorneys for Gov. Haskell and others in the Muskogee town lot cases have not been advised officially that the Government proposes to resume the prosecutions. On the contrary the last information rather indicated they would be dropped. The decision of Judge Marshall in quashing the indictments also affected about twenty other cases in Eastern Oklahoma, and if a special Grand Jury is convened they, as well as the town lot cases, would be available. Attorneys say they are confident that the government can not sustain a conviction and announce they would be ready for trial, which would probably take place at McAlester. The Tulsa term ends the last of May and the McAlester term begins June 1.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

A Modern Bath Room

at a minimum cost of

$5.00

CLEANLINESS is next to Godliness, and the bath is the most essential function of life and health. This luxury is now within the reach of all, regardless of what your home facilities may be.

There was a time when proper bathing facilities depended altogether upon bath-rooms and these were not absolutely according to hygienic laws, unless equipped with appliances for administering Massage, shower and friction baths. It is also true that bath-rooms then as now could not be installed without running water—without great expense. While these conditions still exist and must always exist with reference to bath-rooms, the question of proper bathing facilities is no longer confined to that one means. A substitute has been found in the ALLEN PORTABLE BATH APPARATUS which is proving A God-Send to Thousands of People in all parts of the world. It does the work so well and does so much more than other methods that you are more fortunate in possessing this invention than you would be in possessing a bath-room.

In the first place, it costs but a few dollars, can be used wherever water exists. You can bathe better, more thoroughly, more conveniently—then its all so easy, so quickly done. Only five minutes with this invention, that's all, just five minutes to give your body a Cleansing, massage, friction and shower bath. Four Baths condensed into one operation.

Another Remarkable Feature and one appreciated by all, is the small quantity of water required—Only one gallon, hot or cold, but every drop counts, and you couldn't be cleaner or better groomed if you used a tub full the old way.

Another thing, you bathe in clean running water instead of washing and rewashing in dirty water as with all other methods—even bath-rooms have that great fault. In place of Wash Rags and Sponges that don't open the pores, you use an applicator which cleans itself while cleaning your skin, thus being absolutely sanitary—always clean. It is the applicator that opens your pores—cleans them of dirt and oily deposits—does this with all the

Thoroughness of a Turkish Bath

It is the applicator that massages, that applies friction, shower, either all together or separate. A bath with this apparatus brings into action all the qualities of a perfect bath. It would take a heap of money to provide a bathroom with equal facilities. It should also be remembered that this apparatus is portable, so very much so, that a child can move it about, can change it from room to room, can put it in place on the wall or shelf or take it down. This means that you can take a modern bath in a modern way, just at the time and place it suits you best. All this means that you can

Convert Any Room Into a Bath-Room

By simply installing the ALLEN PORTABLE BATH APPARATUS, it does away with wash bowls, buckets, basins, tubs—with wash rags and sponges—does away with the old time annoyances, inconvenience, drudgery. We can't tell you in this short space all the remarkable features of his remarkable inventions, such things will be thoroughly explained by representatives who will call on the residents of Ada.

In addition to the Allen Portable Bath Apparatus we can supply Bath Room Outfits which excel all other known methods for Convenience, Quickness and Correct Hygienic and Scientific effects without extra plumbers' cost. These outfits range in price from $3.50 to $5.00. Certainly no one should be without these luxuries when they can be secured at so small a cost.

FOUNDER'S DAY AT BACONE COLLEGE.

For some years past it has been in the minds of some at Bacone that there should be one day in the school year set aside as founder's day, accordingly the 22nd of April was designated for this purpose for this year.

A special service in chapel was observed.

Led by the college orchestra the entire student body joined in the singing of America; Mrs. C. L. Steele then sang a beautiful solo with a violin obligato. This solo was appreciated by all and was a fitting introduction to the reading of the "parable of the Sower" as recorded by Luke, after which President Collette led in prayer. Miss Katherine Dietz then rendered a splendid violin solo. Dr. F. B. Plite of Muskogee who was well acquainted with President Bacone was to have been with us but owing to other duties it was not possible for him to be present. Miss Ella M. Hayes who has charge of mathematics and German kindly consented to speak of President Bacone and his work here. Miss Hayes having taught here since the fall of 1901 is more familiar than any other member of the faculty with the work of this truly great man. She spoke concerning his real life and his work in connection with the male seminary at Tahlequah, the desire of his heart that there should be a Christian institution for the young people and finally the founding of Indian University in 1880 and the opening with but three pupils, the locating at Bacone near the trading post known as Muskogee in 1885, and the growth of the school to the present date. Following Miss Hayes, President Collette made a few remarks touching upon the devotion to duty and the christian characteristics as gathered from those who knew Pres. Bacone. It is true that all who were with him as teacher or pupil had the utmost respect for him. All loved him for his motives and thoughts were at all times pure and noble.

A brief summary of some of the work was given which was very interesting; since the founding in 1880 twenty-nine years ago there have been 2,922 enrolled making an average for the year of 101, during this time there have been forty-six college graduates and an interesting item in this connection is that the Indians and whites are equally divided; there have been 237 academic graduates in the same period of time. It was suggested that it be the custom for the graduating class of each year to keep the grave and lot of our honored founder and president in good condition, this will be a slight token of our esteem for him and his work. It was stated that if possible a better picture would be placed on the chapel wall.

The service was concluded with a selection by the college orchestra. The observance of this day this year will be the means of our having a much more elaborate service next year the 30th anniversary of the establishment of the institution.

EWING N. COLLETTE, Pres.
Bacone, Okla., April 22, 1909.

Citizens Take Notice.

The citizens of Ada, and in particular the members of the 25,000 Club of the city, are notified that on Monday evening, May the 3rd, there will occur the regular annual election of club officers. All club members are especially urged to be present at this important meeting.

It has been well suggested that the successful promotion of the city's best interests depended on a larger, more regularly attending club membership. In such regard, there will be discussed fully and unreservedly on Monday evening preceding the election of officers, the practicability of the reorganization of the club. Therefore every citizen interested in the up-building of Ada, irrespective of the status of his present club membership or past affiliations with the club's organization is respectfully urged to be present Monday evening.

One of the features of Monday evening's meeting will be a discussion of good roads for Pontotoc county. Respectfully,

RESTITUTION.

From Oklahoma Baptist Journal.
Recently, at K-K, we often found a bird imprisoned in the church building. And, time and again, the poor frightened creature would dash against a window, only to fall back, bruised and bleeding—a gradual suicide; when, all the while, there was one certain and safe way of escape, namely, the way it had come, which, in this case, was through the chimney and furnace.

How like many a successful Christian who suddenly finds himself imprisoned in Joyless Castle! His accustomed freedom is in plain view. Yet, at each determined dash, some fiendish, invisible giant hurls him back crippled and defeated. But, all the while, unlike the bird, conscience is saying to the man, "Inquire for the old path; retrace your steps; find the exit where you entered; there is no other way." Now, where did he enter the cheerless abode of a powerless life? There is but one answer. Where he sinned. He may call it a "little" sin; but let him see it through God's eyes; and, if possible make restitution for it. Let him take this way out; and, suddenly he will find himself basking in the open sunlight of God's presence.

MOB HANGS TWO AT MARSHALL

PRISONERS TAKEN FROM MARSHALL, ILL. JAIL IN DEAD OF NIGHT.

30 OR 40 CITIZENS IN MOB

Wary of Court Leniency and Executive Clemency in Texas People Take Law in Their Own Hands.

Marshall, Tex. April 30.—Two negroes under indictment in connection with the killing of Deputy Sheriff Mc Huffman and the wounding of another officer early Monday morning were taken from the Harrison County jail between 2 and 3 o'clock this morning by a mob of thirty and forty lynchers and hanged to a large willow tree near Pope's gun in the southern section of this place. The soldiers who had been on guard at the jail had been sent away shortly before midnight no trouble being anticipated by the authorities. The coroner's verdict was that the negroes were hanged by a mob known to the negroes lynched were Mc Huffman and Mat Chase. Jesse Jefferson was not molested by the mob.

Preceding Hours Quiet

Last night the city was quiet and the streets were clear and quiet at a very early hour and everything had steadied down to normal conditions, and no further trouble was anticipated. About 11 o'clock Sheriff Craig went to the jail and told the state militia that their services were no longer needed and soon they were busy packing up their traps and getting ready to go home. They had been on duty since last Monday evening and this was welcome news to them and as they were leaving the jail someone called the sons of God by the way. All We Meet Again.

Jail Warden's Statement

Jesse Stutz, jail warden, said it was about 1 o'clock this morning when he heard someone rattle the door. He went to the door and found it was the sheriff and it was not them and that he had a prisoner and they went to put him in jail. He told the door was locked and he looked out through the side window and could not see anyone. He went to the other side and could see the light of some ones hit standing with his back to the door and at the same time he could see two men one standing behind a tree on either side of the gate on the outside and he replied: Boys you are trying to fool me and went back into the room.

Soon I could hear the tramp of many feet in the jail yard and in a few seconds I heard the sound of the big pole as it hit the wall. I told the boys not to tear down the jail. The hole was punched in the jail and soon the men swarmed into the room. There must have been between thirty and forty of them and all that I saw were disguised and those that were not I could not tell who they were.

They cut the telephone wire and shoved me back into the room and three of them stood with their backs to me across the doorway I told them not to break the telephone wire out to just let the receiver hang down but they broke the wire anyway.

In the meantime the men had taken the keys away from me and gone upstairs where the prisoners were in the cage and unlocked the cage. They got hold of Jefferson first but let him go as they wanted the two who were charged with the murder and took Creole Mose and Mat Chase out and came downstairs and left the jail with them.

Story of Officer's Killing.

The crime which the negroes paid the penalty for is well known to every one in this section of the country. Deputy Sheriff Mark Huffman and Deputy Constable Alex Craig went to the railroad camp to make an arrest and were fired upon as soon as they opened the flap of the tent where the negroes were. Huffman was killed outright and Craig was wounded in the arm. Craig returned to the city and gave the alarm. By daylight armed men were scouring the country and about fifty negroes were placed in jail from the railroad camp in the eastern portion of the city.

Officers soon learned that the negroes who were wanted for the murder were Mose Hill better known as Creole Mose and Mat Chase and Jesse Jefferson.

Mat Chase was the first one to be caught and that was only accomplished after he had put up a sort of resistance to the citizens of Wiskom who had him surrounded in an oil house and then not until after he had fired many shots from a revolver and tried to break it to pieces against a chimney in the inside of the building. He was brought back to Marshall and landed in jail and later in the evening the two negroes Mose Hill and Jesse Jefferson were captured between Jonesville and Wiskom and taken to Sheriff Craig and deputies who went from this city. The prisoners were brought back to Marshall on the night train and reached here at 1 o'clock. The train was stopped at a house and the prisoners taken out and in charge of a few men rushed to the jail through the deserted street while the remainder of the posse and Sheriff Craig cut on a fire station and he put the prisoners in jail and few in Marshall knew that the wire here until the next morning.

Special Term of Court.

Judge Buford and District Attorney Jones came from Longview and a special term of the District Court was ordered after a consultation with the officers and citizens.

Special jury commissioners were appointed the grand jury was drawn and as soon as the names were placed in the hands of the sheriff the men were summoned and the grand jury was impaneled and went to work Wednesday morning. They were in session all that day and on Thursday morning Judge Buford received their report. The prisoners signed a waiver of being present when the special venire was drawn and soon the commissioners were busy drawing a special venire of sixty men to serve as petit jurors.

Counsel from the local bar was appointed for the prisoners and after some discussion Judge Buford set the cases for next Monday at which time the prisoners would be tried as indicted by the grand jury—Mose Hill and Mat Chase for murder and assault to murder and they with Jesse Jefferson for robbery by firearms.

After the decision of the court to hold the trial on next Monday everything became quiet and it seemed that every one was willing to wait and let the law take its course and all danger of lynching seemed to have disappeared. Then last night the militia was withdrawn.

About 5 o'clock this morning the fire department responded to a call and the bell rang bringing several people to the scene of the lynching.

The two negroes lynched were from Louisiana.

The bodies were buried by the county this morning as no relatives could be located.

Statement of Negroes.

Jesse Jefferson and another negro prisoner named Mart Sheppard who were lying on cots outside the cell where the three negroes were confined made the following statement.

When the leader of the mob opened the cell he struck a match and asked Which is Jesse Jefferson? Jefferson replied Me. Stand aside then was the reply. We want Mat Chase and Creole Mose. Mose walked out without saying a word. Mat said I'll go to hell fighting, and made a desperate resistance. It was overcome and the two were taken out. The cell was relocked and the crowd left the jail.

The only noise we heard and Jefferson was about seven trumps against the brick wall. We knew what it was and could tell when the wall gave way. There was no loud talking and very little excitement except with us.

Sheriff Testifies.

Sheriff B. A. Craig being sworn testified as follows:

I am sheriff of Harrison county Tex. Yesterday morning when Judge Buford called his court ordered a venire and set the trial of the cases of Mose Hill and Mat Chase everyone seemed to be satisfied and I heard no more threats of a lynching and all being among the citizens all during the day I did not deem it necessary to keep the militia on guard and called them off.

I know nothing of any further trouble and had no right of intimation to anticipate further trouble or violence until this morning after 7 o'clock when I was informed that Mose Hill and Mat Chase had been hanged.

Verdict of Foremen.

The State of Texas County of Harrison—I S F Perry justice of the peace in and for precinct No 3 Harrison County Tex after taking the evidence and viewing the dead bodies of Mose Hill and Mat Chase do hereby find that said parties came to their death on the south side of the city of Marshall in Harrison county Tex on the morning of April 30 1909 at about 2 o'clock a m by being hanged with a rope to a tree by unknown parties.

A local photographer went down early and got a picture of the negroes hanging and made quite a number of them which were sold. The pictures were taken up later and sold stopped by the authorities.

WABEN MOTION OVERRULED.

Will Have TRI Friday to Fight Writ of Prohibition.

Shawnee Okla. April 30.—Judge Rosser presiding over a special session of the district court today overruled the motion of District Judge Waben to quash indictments against him. The defendant alleged intimidation of witnesses and that the grand jury was improperly drawn. The court also held that the district court had power to remove Judge Waben pending a trial on the charges but allowed him until Tuesday to file a petition for writ of prohibition with the supreme court and have same passed upon. Attorney General West agreed to waive all technicalities and take the writ to Guthrie himself and file it and appear for Judge Rosser in order to get a speedy decision. The attorney for the defendant objected to this however.

SOUTHERN AND MIDDLE WESTERN STATE SUFFER FEARFUL LOSS OF LIFE AND PROPERTY.

50 TO 75 PEOPLE LOSE LIVES

Tennessee Suffered Most Severely—List of Dead and Wounded May Increase.

Louisville Ky. April 30.—Dispatches gathered throughout the south by the Associated Press indicate that from 50 to 75 people met sudden death in the great wind that loosed havoc throughout the section. The number of injured is probably threefold the list of the killed and it will probably be several days before a complete list can be gathered. While the storm which reached the south from the upper Mississippi valley early today left its seat on Mississippi Arkansas Kentucky Alabama Missouri and more remote states Tennessee perhaps suffered the most severely.

It is substantiated that 60 people were killed distributed among the following towns: Youngs Crossing 1 Fayetteville 1 Noblesville 1 Hardeman county 1 Medina 1 Clarksville 1 Centerville 1 Franklin 1 Hillsboro 4 Somerville 3 Laconia 2 Bells 2 Quito 3 Gilles county 12.

Arkansas Suffers

Mississippi's most disastrous point was Horn Lake where six met death. Arkansas reports a total of 12 dead while likelihood that it will be added to is the inaccessible wine points are picked up. Alabama has four dead near Hartsell Kentucky reported much property damage but no deaths while Missouri has seven killed at Somerville and Golden Georgia lost two when a boat capsized in Atlanta. Tash and floods for two nights is the portion of the south reporting to Louisville is officially forecasted here. In Arkansas the towns which lay in the path of the recent tornado at Brinkley suffered most. They were W. T. Marion Weikley and Vienna. In Crawford county many persons were reported to have been injured. This is the county about Fort Smith. Monmouth Springs reported eight dead.

PAYNE TARIFF BILL COMPLETE FROST

AN IDEA OF HOW REPUBLICAN
POLITICIANS PLAY HORSE
WITH THE PEOPLE.

Washington Correspondent Shows
How the American Working Man
Gets the Hooks.

Washington, April 23.—If the cost of living increased 47.4 per cent during the 10 years of the Dingley tariff between 1896 and 1907, how much will it cost the average family to live under the tariff bill now before congress?

This is a problem in tariff arithmetic for the public to think over while congress is preparing to pass the Payne bill with a few minor changes. The Payne bill, after revision by the senate finance committee, is admittedly an advance in rates over the Dingley or present tariff law. Just how much of an advance, not even the republicans know for a certainty. The increase over present rates is estimated all the way from 1.44 to 30 per cent. The exact increase cannot be known until the last administrative feature of the bill has been incorporated, which will probably be in the few minutes last preceding the passage of the measure.

To understand what the real meaning of an increase of tariff rates over the Dingley law is to the consumer, the record of the effect of the Dingley tariff is interesting.

Dunn's commercial agency has for years kept careful track of prices of the commodities which are of general daily consumption. The cost of living increased 47.4 per cent during the ten years of the Dingley tariff preceding 1907. What could be bought for $72.45 in July, 1897, cost $108.79 in June 1906. The rise was steady and gradual.

While wages during the same period increased nominally 18 per cent the cost of living increased 29.4 per cent in advance of wages.

The Statistical Abstract of the United States shows the effect of the Dingley law on various commodities. In reading each of the following comparisons it should be borne in mind the present tariff bill materially increases the Dingley tariff.

Breadstuffs costing $10.50 in 1896 cost $18.16 in 1907.
Meats costing $7.05 in 1896 cost $9.64 in 1907.

Dairy and garden costing $7.87 in 1896 cost $14.46 in 1907.
Other food costing $8.53 in 1896 cost $9.32 in 1907.

Clothing costing $13.60 in 1895 cost $20.10 in 1907.
Metals costing $13.23 in 1896 cost $17.32 in 1907.

Miscellaneous items costing $13.52 in 1896 cost $19.24 in 1907.

"The increase of the cost of wearing apparel and foodstuffs under the Dingley tariff was gradual and steady," said Hon. James M. Graham of Illinois, in a master tariff speech in the house. "Figures speak eloquently of the absolutely scientific manner in which the workingman's wages are reduced in fact, although the unions have been able to obtain a slight nominal increase. They give the laborer 18 cents with one hand and take 47 cents from him with the other."

The condition of labor at the end of ten years' operation of the Dingley tariff was shown at a meeting of the prominent labor men of the country at the office of former Secretary of Commerce and Labor Oscar S. Straus, on Feb. 10, 1908.

Samuel Gompers, on behalf of the American Federation of Labor, reported that he had sent out circular letters to the executive officers of the international trade unions in December, 1908, and from the replies gathered the following information:

Blacksmiths, 130 per cent unemployed; those employed averaging about four days a week; carpenters, 40 per cent unemployed; cigar makers, 10 per cent unemployed; commercial telegraphers, 30 per cent unemployed; freight handlers, 80 per cent unemployed; hod carriers and building laborers, 30 per cent unemployed; butcher workmen, 40 per cent unemployed; tobacco workers, working on two-thirds time; iron maulers, 70 per cent unemployed.

Mr. Gompers: I am sure it is not an exaggeration to say that there are now in our country, and have been with very little variation since October, 1907, nearly 2,000,000 wage earners unemployed.

Secretary Straus: Do you mean that before that period those 2,000,000 wage earners were employed?

Mr. Gompers: I do, sir.

HON. EDGAR S. RATLIFF

Has Accepted the Position of Probate Clerk of Pontotoc County.

Hon. Edgar S. Ratliff has been appointed clerk of the probate court of Pontotoc county.

It is thought by the News that the measure of positive satisfaction of the Pontotoc people with this appointment will be in exact proportion to the number of people who are acquainted with the general ability and character of such new incumbent.

Mr. Ratliff is a graduate of the University of Texas. He has been engaged in the practice of law in this district and county during the past five years, during which time he has impressed the bar and citizenship generally as being a studious, well balanced gentleman and of sufficient grasp to understand and appreciate those important conditions reflecting on the welfare of this county, with which he will be confronted as probate clerk and sufficient courage and initiative to get such impressive reports and recommendations up to the probate court that those conditions may be ameliorated in behalf of the people.

The News commends Judge Terrell and county commissioners on securing the services of Mr. Ratliff, who also had something to do with securing the Ada Normal.

Judge W. G. Currie, who had, under agreement, been giving part of his time to the business of the probate clerkship was compelled to resign on account of the demand of his substantial practice.

BIG STORE FOR ADA.

Largest Department Store in Southern Oklahoma to Locate Here.

Mr. J. B. Wall, mention of whom was made in these columns yesterday, has consummated his plans for opening at this place a large department store. He will occupy both ground floor apartments of the Henley & Biles building on Main street. Carpenters are at work today making the necessary changes and improvements in the building and Mr. Wall is of the opinion that he will be ready for business within ten days. An immense canvas sign was placed across the building this afternoon on which is the following: "This building will be occupied by the Texas Department Store which will carry every thing from baby shoes to steam threshers."

Col. Samuel Woolard.

Colonel Samuel Francis Woolard of Wichita, ranking member of Governor Stubbs' staff of Kansas and the author of several attractive booklets and compilations, among them "Good Fellowship," "The Beauties of Friendship," "All that's Lovely," etc., is in Ada transacting business with Hardin & Jones, his local representatives of those insurance companies of which he is state agent.

Col. Woolard is rapidly achieving fame, if not a comfortable fortune, through the sale of his booklets of his composition and compilations. He is an Ada property owner and is constantly singing Ada's praises from St. Louis to Colorado Springs.

Miss Benlah Worthington, staff reporter of the News, left this afternoon for Beggs where she will spend Sunday.

THE INEFFICIENT MINISTER.

From the Baptist Journal.
Dr. Pritchett, of the Carnegie Foundation for the advancement of Teaching, has attracted wide attention to his last annual report by remarks upon the economic difficulties of the modern preacher. He observes that unless the solution of the Roman-Catholic Church is accepted, under which preachers are celibate priests and draw their support from the church, neither preaching nor teaching can be considered independent of economic relations to the social order. The altruistic motive may be applauded, but the facts teach us that the ablest men go elsewhere for their life professions. He declares that "the low standards of admission, coupled with the multiplication of sects and church-buildings, have brought into the profession of the ministry a large number of ill-trained men," and have at the same time brought down the financial recompense of the minister to a very low basis—the basis, indeed, of the inefficient man." He writes further:

"Much has been said in recent years of the decay of churches, and the weakening of church ties, particularly among protestants. Many explanations have been given of this tendency. No doubt many factors have a share in the result which we see. Among these one of the most evident is the inefficiency of the ministry, due in the main to low standards of admission. In the Protestant churches, where the power of authority has largely passed by, the work of the church depends on the quality of the religious leadership of its preachers. The efficiency of this leadership is low. In the small towns one finds the same conditions as exist among lawyers and physicians. Four or five ministers eke out a living where one or two at most could do the work efficiently. Like the doctors of their villages, these men concern themselves with chronic cases and specific remedies, while the great problems of the moral health of their communities go untouched.

The old mother church has pursued a more far-sighted policy in this matter than the majority of her daughters. She requires of all her priests a long and severe training. However one may criticize the kind of education which they receive, or the large factor of loyalty to the ecclesiastical organization which forms part of it, the wisdom of the requirement is unquestionable. To it is due in very large measure the enormous moral power of the Roman-Catholic church throughout the world, particularly among the great masses of working people in the cities where protestantism has been so markedly ineffective, partly, at least, because of defects that an adequate modern education would go far toward remedying."

"It is impossible to estimate how much the cause of religious progress is delayed by the fact that a great proportion of the men who assume, as representatives of the Christian denominations, to take the place of religious leaders, are unprepared for such leadership, are untrained in the fundamentals of theology, in the elements of learning, in knowledge of mankind, in the interpretation of life from the religious rather than from the denominational standpoint. Meager as are the salaries paid, they are in many cases equal to the service rendered. In this situation the public is profoundly interested.

"The public can form no sound conclusion whether a Methodist or a Baptist is likely to be the more efficient religious leader any more than it can determine whether a homeopath or an allopath is the more likely to be an efficient practitioner of medicine. Of one thing only it can be sure, and that is that whether a man undertakes to lead in one religious organization or another, he ought to have grounded himself in the fundamental studies which lie at the basis of all religious teaching, of all intellectual and spiritual leadership. Training counts for as much here as in any other human relation.

"The raising of the efficiency of the profession of the ministry rests largely in the hands of preachers themselves, just as the raising of the profession of the law rests with lawyers, and the raising of the profession of medicine rests with physicians. That the effort presents for any particular Christian organization serious social, administrative, and economic difficulties can not be denied. That the advancement of religious influence in the lives of men

This simple discovery banishes rheumatism, the blood, and restores the eyes, giving elasticity and tone to the whole system. If the above interests you, for proof address Mrs. M. Summers, Box 8, South Bend, Ind.

These statements led a daily paper to seek rebuttal or confirmation from Dr. Aked, of the Fifth Avenue Baptist church, and his words, reproduced in The Christian Work and Evangelist (New York), are a practical confirmation of the charges. He writes:

"I should think that Dr. Pritchett is quite right when he says that the profession of the preacher has not kept pace with the enormous advances in popular education. In that respect he does right to contrast the ministry with the progress made by the professions of law and medicine. He insists that the ministry has relatively retrograded. His opportunities of forming a judgment have been greater than mine. Personally I should think that he is right. When he says 'The standards of admission to the ministry have not kept pace with the general progress,' he puts his finger upon one secret of the whole trouble.

"Few things are more grievous than the spectacle of really intellectual, highly educated, devoted young men turned back from the ministry. A ministerial friend of my own vouches for the truth of this statement which he makes from his own personal knowledge of the university in question. Men after man of great ability and great attainments and high character, intending to devote himself to the ministry, before his university career closes has changed his mind and gone into law or railroad work or journalism and literature or something else, simply because he was too big a man to pass through the miserable little wicket gate set up by the keepers of the denominations. These men have left themselves called to maintain the orthodoxy of the churches, a narrow, stupid, shoddy, little orthodoxy, out of harmony with our modern thinking denied by all that we know today under the conspicuous operations of the Living Spirit of God. Men who respect themselves, real men, men who have it in them to do some good in the world, are not going to stultify themselves by submitting to the absurd little tests which these absurd little men propose.

"Certainly, I can give you an instance which came under my own observation. There is in this city what is called a Permanent Council of a certain denomination. This council decides whether a candidate for the ministry shall be ordained or not. I have been present on more than one occasion. I have seen at least one young man, university-trained, of conspicuous ability, bearing a name honored in his own denomination, badgered by the most belated questions about the beliefs which ought long ago to have been relegated to the junk-heap. It made me sick to hear men asking questions about the doctrine of everlasting punishment and about the verbal inspiration of the Bible and about things that a decent man ought to be ashamed to bring up for discussion in the twentieth century. The fact is that only little men with little minds in little positions can afford to give their time to this sort of folly, and they like it. I do not mean in one denomination or in another, but speaking generally of the denominations, the really able man, such as Dr. Pritchett wants to see in the ministry, is not going to submit to such nonsense."—Literary Digest

The Ada National.

The Comptroller of the Currency only requires banks to retain 15 per cent of their deposits in reserve, considering that such amount held in reserve is evidence of safety, but the Ada National bank in its published statement under the late call from the Comptroller goes him several better by showing a reserve of substantially 50 per cent of its deposits and as well the deposits continue to that substantial amount, even at this season of the year which enables this pioneer institution to show a good strong loan and discount amount.

The Ada National is indeed one of the strong banking institutions of the country.

RESPONSIBILITY OF LEADERSHIP

From the Baptist Journal.
"Last fall a 'bell wether' slipped on a hillside and fell into a river; 11,000 sheep followed him and were drowned. A great leader of men does not fall down. His slip may be the slip of a multitude of his followers. In its fall the might oak bends and breaks many small trees that have flourished in its shelter."

STATUES.

From the Baptist Journal.

In London, England, mere statues, an equestrian statue of St. George. The horse is stationary with the forefoot lifted midway from the ground. He is just about to go somewhere, but he hasn't started yet.

You go back there two years from now and you will find him in the very same place and just about to start. The birds have built their nests in his ears.

There is more than one congregation where there are St. George's statues—people who are just about to do right, but who never accomplish anything worth while. They are just about to do something for missions, for temperance, or evangelism, but if you go back to them in two years, six years, or ten years, you will find them where you left them and still just about to start.

It grates on the nerves of a sensitive person to look on this equestrian statue in London. It makes one wish for a dynamite bomb to help it move on.

A generous use of gospel dynamite bombs is one remedy to aid equestrian statues in a congregation to move forward.

MOVE TO AMEND OKLAHOMA CONSTITUTION

INITIATIVE PETITION TO REMOVE CAPITOL FROM GUTHRIE

Petition Was Prepared by Oklahoma City Chamber of Commerce.

Guthrie Ok April 30—Initiative petitions have been prepared by attorneys acting for the Oklahoma City Chamber of Commerce submitting to the people an amendment to the constitution that will permit removal of the state capital from Guthrie also a bill proposing to relocate the seat of government

As the enabling act fixed the capital in Guthrie until after 1913 and that act was accepted by the constitutional convention an amendment to the constitution is regarded as a legal necessity in the bill of location three candidates are proposed namely Oklahoma City Guthrie and Shawnee with provision for other towns getting on the ticket under this procedure should the Constitution be amended the location sought in the second measure would become effective

If the constitutional amendment fails it is generally agreed that location can not be made until the time fixed by the enabling act expires. The First Legislature submitted an amendment to the constitution granting power to remove the capital from Guthrie but it failed before the people last summer for the want of a constitutional majority. A similar amendment introduced in the Second Legislature did not pass. It is now intended to submit the questions at a special election to be held in July or August when practically a majority vote will determine. More than twenty thousand signatures are required in each instance to initiate

Cannot Sustain Conviction.

Guthrie Ok April 30—Oklahoma attorneys for Gov Haskell and others in the Muskogee town lot cases have not been advised officially that the Government proposes to resume the prosecutions. On the contrary the last information rather indicated they would be dropped. The decision of Judge Marshall in quashing the indictments also affected about twenty other cases in Eastern Oklahoma and if a special Grand Jury is convened there is well as the town lot cases would be available. Attorneys say they are confident that the government can not sustain a conviction and announce they would be ready for trial which would probably take place at McAlester. The Tulsa term ends the last of May and the McAlester term begins June 1

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing and when it is entirely closed Deafness is the result and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition hearing will be destroyed forever. Nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces

at a minimum cost of

$5.00

CLEANLINESS is next to Godliness, and the bath is the most essential function of life and health. This luxury is now within the reach of all, regardless of what your home facilities may be.

There was a time when proper bathing facilities depended altogether upon bath rooms and these were not absolutely according to hygienic laws unless equipped with appliances for administering massage, shower and friction baths. It is also true that bath rooms then as now could not be installed without running water—without great expense. While these conditions still exist and must always exist with reference to bath-rooms, the question of proper bathing facilities is no longer confined to that one means. A substitute has been found in the ALLEN PORTABLE BATH APPARATUS which is proving a God-Send to Thousands of People in all parts of the world. It does the work so well and does so much more than other methods that you are more fortunate in possessing this invention than you would be in possessing a bath-room.

In the first place it costs but a few dollars, can be used where ever water exists. You can bathe better more thoroughly more conveniently—then its all so easy, so quickly done. Only five minutes with this invention that's all, just five minutes to give your body a Cleansing, massage, friction and shower bath. Four Baths condensed into one operation.

Another Remarkable Feature in one appreciated by all is the small quantity of water required—Only one gallon, hot or cold but every drop counts and you couldn't be cleaner or better groomed if you used a tub full the old way.

Another thing you bathe in clean running water instead of washing and re-washing in dirty water as with all other methods—even bath rooms have this great fault. In place of Wash Rags and Sponges that don't open the pores you use an applicator which cleans itself while cleaning your skin thus being absolutely sanitary—always clean. It is the applicator that opens your pores—cleans them of dirt and oily deposits—does this with all the

It is the applicator that massages, that applies, friction, shower, ether all together or separate. A bath with this apparatus brings into action all the qualities of a perfect bath. It would take a heap of money to provide a bath-room with equal facilities. It should also be remembered that this apparatus is portable, so very much so that a child can move it about, can change it from room to room can put it in place on the wall or shelf or take it down. This means that you can take a modern bath in a modern way, just at the time and place it suits you best. All this means that you can

Convert Any Room Into a Bath-Room

By simply installing the ALLEN PORTABLE BATH APPARATUS. It does away with wash bowls, buckets, basins, tubs—wash rags and sponges—does away with the old time annoyances inconvenience, drudgery. We can't tell you in his short space all the remarkable features of his remarkable inventions. Such things will be thoroughly explained by representatives who will call on the residents of Ada.

In addition to the Allen Portable Bath Apparatus we can supply Bath Room Outfits which exceed all other known methods for Convenience, Quickness and Correct Hygienic and Scientific effects without extra planitless cost. These outfits range in price from $3.00 to $50.00. Certainly no one should be without these luxuries when they can be secured at so small a cost.

FOUNDER'S DAY AT BACONE COLLEGE

For some years past it has been in the minds of some at Bacone that there should be one day in the school year set aside as founder's day accordingly the 2nd of April was designated for this purpose for this year.

A special service in chapel was observed.

Led by the college orchestra the entire student body joined in the singing, of America. Mrs. C. L. Steele then sang a beautiful solo with a violin obbligato. This solo was appreciated by all and was a fitting introduction to the reading of the "parable of the Sower" as recorded by Luke after which President Collette led in prayer. Miss Katherine Dietz then rendered a splendid violin solo. Dr. F. B. Pitt of Muskogee who was well acquainted with President Bacone was to have been with us but owing to other duties it was not possible for him to be present. Miss Ella M. Hayes who has charge of mathematics and German kindly consented to speak of President Bacone and his work here. Miss Hayes having taught here since the fall of 1901 is more familiar than any other member of the faculty with the work of this truly great man. She spoke concerning his real life and his work in connection with the male seminary at Tahlequah the desire of his heart that there should be a Christian institution for the young people and finally the founding of Indian University in 1880 and the opening with but three pupils the location at Bacone near the trading post known as Muskogee in 1880 and the growth of the school to the present day. Following Mrs. Hayes President Collette made a few remarks touching upon the devotion to duty and the Christian characteristics as gathered from those who knew Pres. Bacone. It is true that all who were with him as teachers or pupils had the utmost respect for him. All loved him for his motives and thoughts were at all times pure and noble.

A brief summary of some of the work was given which was very interesting since the founding in 1880 twenty nine years ago there have been 2,922 enrolled making an average for the year of 101 during this time there have been forty six college graduates and an interesting item in this connection is that the Indians and whites are equally divided there have been 217 academic graduates in the same period of time.

It was suggested that it be the custom for the graduating class of each year to keep the grave and lot of our honored founder and president in good condition this will be a slight token of our esteem for him and his work. It was stated that if possible a better picture would be placed on the chapel wall.

The service was concluded with a selection by the college orchestra. The closing of this day this year will be the first of our having a much more elaborate service than the one given at the inauguration of the institution.

RESTITUTION

From Oklahoma Baptist Journal
Recently at K-K we often found a bird imprisoned in the church building. And time and again the poor frightened creature would dash against a window only to fall back bruised and bleeding—a gradual suicide when all the while there was one certain and safe way of escape namely the way it had come which, in this case was through the chimney and furnace.

How like many a successful Christian who suddenly finds himself imprisoned in joyless castle. His accustomed freedom is in plain view. Yet at each determined dash some fiendish invisible giant hurls him back crippled and defeated. But all too while unlike the bird conscience is saying to the man. Inquire for the old path retrace your steps find the exit where you entered there is no other way. Now where did he enter the cheerless abode of a powerless life? There is but one answer. Where he sinned. He may call it a little sin but let him see it through God's eyes and if possible make restitution for it. Let him take this way out and, suddenly he will find himself basking in the open sunlight of God's presence.

MOB HANGS TWO AT MARSHALL

PRISONERS TAKEN FROM MARSHALL, TEX., JAIL IN DEAD OF NIGHT.

30 OR 40 CITIZENS IN MOB

Wary of Court Leniency and Executive Clemency in Texas People Take Law in Their Own Hands.

Marshall Tex. April 30.—Two negroes under indictment in connection with the killing of Deputy Sheriff M. Hufman and the wounding of another officer early Monday morning were taken from the Harrison County jail between 2 and 3 o'clock this morning by between thirty and forty lynchers and hanged to a large willow tree near Pope's grove in the southern section of this place. The soldiers who had been on guard at the jail had been sent away shortly before midnight no trouble being anticipated by the authorities. The coroner's verdict was that the negroes were hanged by parties unknown. The negroes lynched were Mose Hill and Mat Chase. Jesse Jefferson was not molested by the mob.

Preceding Hours Quiet

Last night the city was quiet and the streets were clear and quiet at a very early hour and everything had settled down to normal conditions and no further trouble was anticipated. About 11 o'clock Sheriff Carrell went to the jail and told the state militia that their services were no longer needed and soon they were busy packing up their traps and getting ready to go home. They had been on duty since last Monday evening and this was welcome news to them and as they were leaving the jail someone called the sons of God. By 11:30 all was quiet again.

Jail Warden's Statement

Jesse Stutz, jail warden, said it was about 1 o'clock this morning when he heard someone rattle the door. He went to the door and found it was open. He called out and it was the jailer. He was not there and that they had a prisoner and they wanted to put him in jail. He called out and the jailer said that the door was open and he looked out through the side window. He could not see anyone. He went to the other side and could see the head of someone hit standing with his back to the door and at the same time he could see two men one standing behind a tree on either side of the gate on the outside and he replied: Boys you are trying to fool me and went back into the room.

Soon I could hear the tramp of many feet in the jail yard and in a few seconds I heard the sound of the big pole as it hit the wall. I told the boys not to tear down the jail. The hole was punched in the jail and soon the men swarmed into the room. There must have been between thirty and forty of them and all that I saw were disguised and those that were not I could not tell who they were.

They cut the telephone wire and shoved me back into the room and three of them stood with their backs to me across the doorway. I told them not to break the telephone wire but to just let the receiver hang down but they broke the wire anyway.

In the meantime the men had taken the keys away from me and gone upstairs where the prisoners were in the cage and unlocked the cage. They got hold of Jefferson first but let him go as they wanted the two who were charged with the murder and took Creole Mose and Mat Chase out and came downstairs and left the jail with them.

Story of Officer's Killing.

The crime which the negroes paid the penalty for is well known to every one in this section of the country. Deputy Sheriff Mark Hufman and Deputy Constable Alex Carrell went to the railroad camp to make an arrest and were fired upon as soon as they opened the flap of the tent where the negroes were. Hufman was killed outright and Carrell was wounded in the arm. Carrell returned to the city and gave the alarm. By day light armed men were coming the country and about fifty negroes were placed in jail from the railroad camp in the eastern portion of the city.

Officers soon learned that the negroes who were wanted for the murder were Mose Hill better known as Creole Mose and Mat Chase and Jesse Jefferson.

Mat Chase was the first one to be caught and that was only accomplished after he had put up a sort of resistance to the citizens of Wiskom who had him surrounded in an oil house and then not until after he had fired many shots from a .38 caliber revolver and tried to break it to pieces against a chimney in the inside of the building. He was brought back to Marshall and landed in jail and later in the evening the two negroes Mose Hill and Jesse Jefferson were captured between Jonesville and Wiskom and taken to Shreveport on the night train by Sheriff Carrell and deputies who went from this city. The prisoners were brought back to Marshall on the night train and reached here at 1 o'clock. The train was stopped at a house and the prisoners taken out and in charge of a few men. They rushed to the jail through the deserted street while the remainder of the posse and Sheriff Carrell cut on their position and he put the prisoners in jail and few in Marshall knew that the men were here until the next morning.

Special Term of Court.

Judge Buford and District Attorney Jones came from Longview and a special term of the District Court was ordered after a consultation with the officers and citizens.

Special jury commissioners were appointed the grand jury was drawn and as soon as the names were placed in the hands of the sheriff the men were summoned and the grand jury was impaneled and went to work Wednesday morning. They were in session all that day and on Thursday morning Judge Buford received their report. The prisoners signed a waiver of being present when the special venire was drawn and soon the commissioners were busy drawing a special venire of sixty men to serve as petit jurors.

Counsel from the local bar was appointed for the prisoners and after some discussion Judge Buford set the cases for next Monday at which time the prisoners would be tried as indicted by the grand jury—Mose Hill and Mat Chase for murder and assault to murder and they with Jesse Jefferson for robbery by firearms.

After the decision of the court to hold the trial on next Monday everything became quiet and it seemed that every one was willing to wait and let the law take its course and all danger of lynching seemed to have disappeared. Then last night the militia was withdrawn.

About 5 o'clock this morning the fire department responded to a call and the bell rang bringing several people to the scene of the lynching. The two negroes lynched were from Louisiana.

The bodies were buried by the county this morning as no relatives could be located.

Statement of Negroes.

Jesse Jefferson and another negro prisoner named Mart Sheppard who were lying on cots outside the cell where the three negroes were confined made the following statement.

When the leader of the mob opened the cell he struck a match and asked which is Jesse Jefferson? Jefferson replied: Me. Stand aside then was the reply. We want Mat Chase and Creole Mose. Mose walked out without saying a word. Mat said: I'll go to hell tonight, and made a desperate resistance. It was overcome and the two were taken out. The cell was relocked and the crowd left the jail.

The only noise we heard said Jefferson was about seven trumpets. Just the brick wall. We knew what it was and could tell when the wall gave way. There was no loud talking and very little excitement except with us.

Sheriff Testifies.

Sheriff B. A. Carrell being sworn testified as follows:

I am sheriff of Harrison county Tex. Yesterday morning when Judge Buford called his court ordered a venire and set the trial of the cases of Mose Hill and Mat Chase everyone seemed to be satisfied and I heard no more threats of a lynching and all being among the citizens all during the day I did not deem it necessary to keep the militia on guard and called them off.

Verdict of Foremen.

The State of Texas County of Harrison—I S. P. Peery justice of the peace in and for precinct No. 3 Harrison County Tex. after taking the evidence and viewing the dead bodies of Mose Hill and Mat Chase do hereby find that said parties came to their death on the south side of the city of Marshall in Harrison county Tex. on the morning of April 30 1909 at about 2 o'clock a. m. by being hanged with a rope to a tree by unknown parties.

A local photographer went down early and got a picture of the negroes hanging and made quite a number of them which were sold. The pictures were taken up later and sale stopped by the authorities.

WABEN MOTION OVERRULED.

Will Have Till Friday to File Writ of Prohibition.

Shawnee Okla. April 30.—Judge Rosser presiding over a special session of the district court today overruled the motion of District Judge Wabens to quash indictments against him. The defendant alleged intimidation of witnesses and that the grand jury was improperly drawn. The court also held that the district court had power to remove Judge Wabens pending a trial on the charges but allowed him until Tuesday to file a petition for writ of prohibition with the supreme court and have same passed upon. Attorney General West agreed to waive all technicalities and take the writ to Guthrie himself and file it and appear for Judge Rosser in order to get a speedy decision. The attorney for the defendant objected to this however.

PAYNE TARIFF BILL COMPLETE FROST

AN IDEA OF HOW REPUBLICAN
POLITICIANS PLAY HOUSE
WITH THE PEOPLE.

Washington Correspondent Shows
How the American Working Man
Gets the Hooks.

Washington, April 29.—If the cost of living increased 47.4 per cent during the 10 years of the Dingley tariff between 1896 and 1907, how much will it cost the average family to live under the tariff bill now before congress?

This is a problem in tariff arithmetic for the public to think over while congress is preparing to pass the Payne bill with a few minor changes.

The Payne bill, after revision by the senate finance committee, is admittedly an advance in rates over the Dingley or present tariff law. Just how much of an advance, not even the republicans know for a certainty. The increase over present rates is estimated all the way from 1.44 to 30 per cent. The exact increase cannot be known until the last administrative feature of the bill has been incorporated, which will probably be in the few minutes just preceding the passage of the measure.

To understand what the real meaning of an increase of tariff rates over the Dingley law is to the consumer, the record of the effect of the Dingley tariff is interesting.

Dunn's commercial agency has for years kept careful track of prices of the commodities which are of general daily consumption. The cost of living increased 47.4 per cent during the ten years of the Dingley tariff preceding 1907. What could be bought for $72.46 in July, 1897, cost $108.79 in June 1908. The rise was steady and gradual.

While wages during the same period increased nominally 18 per cent the cost of living increased 29.4 per cent in advance of wages.

The Statistical Abstract of the United States shows the effect of the Dingley law on various commodities in making each of the following comparisons it should be borne in mind the present tariff bill materially increases the Dingley tariff.

Breadstuffs costing $10.50 in 1896 cost $18.16 in 1907.

Meats costing $7.05 in 1896 cost $9.64 in 1907.

Dairy and garden costing $7.87 in 1896 cost $14.46 in 1907.

Other food costing $8.53 in 1896 cost $9.82 in 1907.

Clothing costing $13.60 in 1896 cost $20.10 in 1907.

Metals costing $13.23 in 1896 cost $17.52 in 1907.

Miscellaneous items costing $13.52 in 1896 cost $19.24 in 1907.

"The increase of the cost of wearing apparel and foodstuffs under the Dingley tariff was gradual and steady," said Hon. James M. Graham of Illinois, in a master tariff speech in the house. "Figures speak eloquently of the absolutely scientific manner in which the workingman's wages are reduced in fact, although the unions have been able to obtain a slight nominal increase. They give the laborer 18 cents with one hand and take 47 cents from him with the other."

The condition of labor at the end of ten years' operation of the Dingley tariff was shown at a meeting of the prominent labor men of the country at the office of former Secretary of Commerce and Labor Oscar S. Straus, on Feb. 30, 1905.

Samuel Gompers, on behalf of the American Federation of Labor, reported that he had sent out circular letters to the executive officers of the international trade unions in December, 1908, and from the replies gathered the following information:

Blacksmiths, 30 per cent unemployed; those employed averaging about four days a week; carpenters, 40 per cent unemployed; cigar makers, 10 per cent unemployed; commercial telegraphers, 30 per cent unemployed; freight handlers, 30 per cent unemployed; hod carriers and building laborers, 30 per cent unemployed; butcher workmen, 40 per cent unemployed; tobacco workers, working on two-thirds time; iron maulers, 70 per cent unemployed.

Mr. Gompers: I am sure it is not an exaggeration to say that there are now in our country, and have been with very little variation since October, 1907, nearly 2,000,000 wage earners unemployed.

Secretary Straus: Do you mean that before that period those 2,000,000 wage earners were employed?

Mr. Gompers: I do, sir.

HON. EDGAR S. RATLIFF Has Accepted the Position of Probate Clerk of Pontotoc County.

Hon. Edgar S. Ratliff has been appointed clerk of the probate court of Pontotoc county.

It is thought by the News that the measure of positive satisfaction of the Pontotoc people with this appointment will be in exact proportion to the number of people who are acquainted with the general ability and character of such new incumbent.

Mr. Ratliff is a graduate of the University of Texas. He has been engaged in the practice of law in this district and county during the past five years, during which time he has impressed the bar and citizenship generally as being a studious, well balanced gentleman and of sufficient grasp to understand and appreciate those important conditions reflecting on the welfare of this county, with which he will be confronted as probate clerk and sufficient courage and initiative to get such impressive reports and recommendations up to the probate court that those conditions may be ameliorated in behalf of the people.

The News commends Judge Terrell and county commissioners on securing the services of Mr. Ratliff, who also had something to do with securing the Ada Normal.

Judge W. G. Currie, who had, under agreement, been giving part of his time to the business of the probate clerkship was compelled to resign on account of the demand of his substantial practice.

BIG STORE FOR ADA.

Largest Department Store in Southern Oklahoma to Locate Here.

Mr. J. E. Wall, mention of whom was made in these columns yesterday, has consummated his plans for opening at this place a large department store. He will occupy both ground floor apartments of the Henley & Blies building on Main street. Carpenters are at work today making the necessary changes and improvements in the building and Mr. Wall is of the opinion that he will be ready for business within ten days. An immense canvas sign was placed across the building this afternoon on which is the following: "This building will be occupied by the Texas Department Store which will carry everything from baby shoes to steam threshers."

Col. Samuel Woolard.

Colonel Samuel Francis Woolard of Wichita, ranking member of Governor Stubb's staff of Kansas and the author of several attractive booklets and compilations, among them "Good Fellowship," "The Beauties of Friendship," "All that's Lovely," etc., is in Ada transacting business with Hardin & Jones, his local representatives of those insurance companies of which he is state agent.

Col. Woolard is rapidly achieving fame, if not a comfortable fortune, through the sale of his booklets of his composition and compilations. He is an Ada property owner and is constantly singing Ada's praises from St. Louis to Colorado Springs.

Miss Beulah Worthington, staff reporter of the News, left this afternoon for Beggs where she will spend Sunday.

FROM THE BAPTIST MINISTER.

From the Baptist Journal
Dr. Pritchett, of the Carnegie Foundation for the advancement of Teaching, has attracted wide attention to his last annual report by remarks upon the economic difficulties of the modern preacher. He observes that unless the solution of the Roman-Catholic Church is accepted, under which preachers are celibate priests and draw their support from the church, neither preaching nor teaching can be considered independent of economic relations to the social order. The altruistic motive may be applauded, but the facts teach us that the ablest men go elsewhere for their life professions. He declares that "the low standards of admission, coupled with the multiplication of sects and church-buildings, have brought into the profession of the ministry a large number of ill-trained men, and have at the same time brought down the financial recompense of the minister to a very low basis—the basis, indeed, of the inefficient man." He writes further:

"Much has been said in recent years of the decay of churches, and the weakening of church ties, particularly among protestants. Many explanations have been given of this tendency. No doubt many factors have a share in the result which we see. Among these one of the most evident is the inefficiency of the ministry. Due in the main to low standards of admission. In the Protestant churches, where the power of authority has largely passed by, the work of the church depends on the quality of the religious leadership of its preachers. The efficiency of this leadership is low in the small towns one finds the same conditions as exist among lawyers and physicians. Four or five ministers eke out a living where one or two at most could do the work efficiently. Like the doctors of their villages, these men concern themselves with chronic cases and specific remedies, while the great problems of the moral health of their communities go untouched.

"The old mother church has pursued a more far-sighted policy in this matter than the majority of her daughters. She requires of all her priests a long and severe training. However one may criticize the kind of education which they receive, or the large factor of loyalty to the ecclesiastical organization which forms part of it, the wisdom of the requirement is unquestionable. To it is due in very large measure the enormous moral power of the Roman-Catholic church throughout the world, particularly among the great masses of working people in the cities where protestantism has been so markedly ineffective, partly, at least, because of defects that an adequate modern education would go far toward remedying."

"It is impossible to estimate how much the cause of religious progress is delayed by the fact that a great proportion of the men who assume, as representatives of the Christian denominations, to take the place of religious leaders, are unprepared for such leadership. They are untrained in the fundamentals of theology, in the elements of learning, in knowledge of mankind, in the interpretation of life from the religious rather than from the denominational standpoint. Meager as are the salaries paid, they are in many cases equal to the service rendered. In this situation the public is profoundly interested.

"The public can form no sound conclusion whether a Methodist or a Baptist is likely to be the more efficient religious leader any more than it can determine whether a homeopath or an allopath is the more likely to be an efficient practitioner of medicine. Of one thing only it can be sure, and that is that whether a man undertakes to lead in one religious organization or another, he ought to have grounded himself in the fundamental studies which lie at the basis of all religious teaching, of all intellectual and spiritual leadership. Training counts for as much here as in any other human relation.

"The raising of the efficiency of the profession of the ministry rests largely in the hands of preachers themselves, just as the raising of the profession of the law rests with lawyers, and the raising of the profession of medicine rests with physicians. That the effort presents for any particular Christian organization serious social, administrative, and economic difficulties can not be denied. That the advancement of religious influence in the lives of men

A WOMAN'S APPEAL.

She feels it her duty to send to all sufferers of this kind, and to those who are in doubt, will testify to the change of climate being necessary. This simple discovery has been made from the blood, through the different points, purifying the blood, and bringing the system, giving elasticity and life to the whole system. If the above interests you, for proof address Mrs. M. Saunders, Box B, South Bend, Ind.

RESTS IN LARGE MEASURE ON THIS AT-LEAST SEEMS EQUALLY CLEAR.

These statements led a daily paper to seek rebuttal or confirmation from Dr. Aled, of the Fifth Avenue Baptist church, and his words, reproduced in The Christian Work and Evangelist (New York), are a practical confirmation of the charges. He writes:

"I should think that Dr. Pritchett is quite right when he says that the profession of the preacher has not kept pace with the enormous advance in popular education. In that respect he does right to contrast the ministry with the progress made by the professions of law and medicine. He insists that the ministry has relatively retrograded. His opportunities of forming a judgment have been greater than mine. Personally I should think that he is right. When he says 'The standards of admission to the ministry have not kept pace with the general progress,' he puts his finger upon one secret of the whole trouble.

"Few things are more grievous than the spectacle of really intellectual, highly educated, devoted young men turned back from the ministry. A ministerial friend of my own vouches for the truth of this statement which he makes from his own personal knowledge of the university. In question Man after man of great ability and great attainments and high character, intending to devote himself to the ministry, before his university career closes has changed his mind and gone into law or railroad work or journalism and literature or something else, simply because he was too big a man to pass through the miserable little wicket gate set up by the keepers of the denominations. These men have left themselves called to maintain the orthodoxy of the churches, a narrow, stupid, shoddy, little orthodoxy, out of harmony with our modern thinking denied by all that we know today under the continuous operations of the Living Spirit of God. Men who respect themselves, real men, men who have it in them to do some good in the world, are not going to stultify themselves by submitting to the absurd little tests which these absurd little men propose.

"Certainly, I can give you an instance which came under my own observation. There is in this city what is called a Permanent Council of a certain denomination. This council decides whether a candidate for the ministry shall be ordained or not. I have been present on more than one occasion. I have seen at least one young man, university-trained, of conspicuous ability, bearing a name honored in his own denomination, haggard by the most belated questions about the beliefs which ought long ago to have been relegated to the junk-heap. It made me sick to hear men asking questions about the doctrine of everlasting punishment and about the verbal inspiration of the Bible and about things that a decent man ought to be ashamed to bring up for discussion in the twentieth century. The fact is that only little men with little minds in little positions can afford to give their time to this sort of folly, and they like it. I do not mean in one denomination or in another, but speaking generally of the denominations, the really able man, such as Dr. Pritchett wants to see in the ministry, is not going to submit to such nonsense."—Literary Digest

The Ada National.

The Comptroller of the Currency only requires banks to retain 15 per cent of their deposits in reserve, considering that such amount held in reserve is evidence of safety, but the Ada National bank in its published statement under the late call from the Comptroller goes him several better by showing a reserve of substantially 50 per cent of its deposits and as well the deposits continue to that substantial amount, even at this season of the year which enables this pioneer institution to show a good strong loan and discount amount.

The Ada National is indeed one of the strong banking institutions of the country.

RESPONSIBILITY OF LEADERSHIP

From the Baptist Journal.
"Last fall a 'bell wether' slipped on a hillside and fell into a river; 11,000 sheep followed him and were drowned. A great leader of men does not fall down. His slip may be the slip of a multitude of his followers. In its fall the might oak bends and breaks many small trees that have flourished in its shelter.

STATUTES.

From the Baptist Journal.

In London, Magiana were stands an equestrian statue of St. George. The horse is stationary with the torso of the statue lifted from the ground. He is just about to go somewhere, but he hasn't started yet.

You go back there two years from now and you will find him in the very same place and just about to start. The birds have built their nests in his ears.

There is more than one congregation where there are St. George's statues—people who are just about to do right, but who never accomplish anything worth while. They are just about to do something for missions, for temperance, or evangelism, but if you go back to them in two years, six years, or ten years, you will find them where you left them and still just about to start.

It grates on the nerves of a sensitive person to look on this equestrian statue in London. It makes one wish for a dynamite bomb to help it move on.

A generous use of gospel dynamite is one remedy to aid equestrian statues in a congregation to move forward.

MOVE TO AMEND OKLAHOMA CONSTITUTION

INITIATIVE PETITION TO REMOVE CAPITOL FROM GUTHRIE

Petition Was Prepared by Oklahoma City Chamber of Commerce.

Guthrie Ok April 30—Initiative petitions have been prepared by attorneys acting for the Oklahoma City Chamber of Commerce submitting to the people an amendment to the constitution that will permit removal of the state capital from Guthrie also a bill proposing to relocate the seat of government

As the enabling act fixed the capital in Guthrie until after 1913 and that act was accepted by the constitutional convention an amendment to the constitution is regarded as a legal necessity. In the bill of location three candidates are proposed namely Oklahoma City Guthrie and Shawnee with provision for other towns getting on the ticket. Under this procedure should the Constitution be amended the location sought in the second measure would become effective.

If the constitutional amendment fails it is generally agreed that location can not be made until the time fixed by the enabling act expires. The First Legislature submitted an amendment to the constitution granting power to remove the capital from Guthrie but it failed before the people last summer for the want of a constitutional majority. A similar amendment introduced in the Second Legislature did not pass. It is now intended to submit the question at a special election to be held in July or August when practically a majority vote will determine. More than twenty thousand signatures are required in each instance to initiate Cannot Sustain Conviction.

Guthrie Ok April 30—Oklahoma attorneys for Gov Haskell and others in the Muskogee town lot cases have not been advised officially that the Government proposes to resume the prosecutions. On the contrary the last information rather indicated they would be dropped. The decision of Judge Marshall in quashing the indictments also affected about twenty other cases in Eastern Oklahoma and if a special Grand Jury is convened they as well as the town lot cases would be available. Attorneys say they are confident that the government can not sustain a conviction and announce they would be ready for trial which would probably take place at McAlester. The Tulsa term ends the last of May and the McAlester term begins June 1.

A Modern Bath Room

at a minimum cost of

$5.00

CLEANLINESS is next to Godliness, and the bath is the most essential function of life and health. This luxury is now within the reach of all, regardless of what your home facilities may be.

There was a time when proper bathing facilities depended altogether upon bath rooms and these were not absolutely according to hygienic laws unless equipped with appliances for administering Massage, shower and friction baths. It is also true that bath rooms then as now could not be installed without running water—without great expense. While these conditions still exist and must always exist with reference to bath-rooms, the question of proper bathing facilities is no longer confined to that one means. A substitute has been found in the ALLEN PORTABLE BATH APPARATUS which is proving a God-Send to Thousands of People in all parts of the world. It does the work so well and does so much more than other methods that you are more fortunate in possessing this invention than you would be in possessing a bath-room.

In the first place it costs but a few dollars, can be used where ever water exists. You can bathe better more thoroughly more conveniently—then its all so easy, so quickly done. Only five minutes with this invention that's all, just five minutes to give your body a cleansing, massage, friction and shower bath. Four Baths condensed into one operation.

Another Remarkable Feature in one appreciated by all is the small quantity of water required—Only one gallon, hot or cold but every drop counts and you couldn't be cleaner or better groomed if you used a tub full the old way.

Another thing you bathe in clean running water instead of washing and re-washing in dirty water as with all other methods—even bath rooms have that great fault. In place of Wash Rags and Sponges that don't open the pores you use an applicator which cleans itself while cleaning your skin thus being absolutely sanitary—always clean. It is the applicator that opens your pores—cleans them of dirt and oily deposits—does this with all the

It is the applicator that massages, that applies friction, shower, or other all together or separate. A bath with this apparatus brings into action all the qualities of a perfect bath. It would take a heap of money to provide a bathroom with equal facilities. It should also be remembered that this apparatus is portable, so very much so that a child can move it about, can change it from room to room can put it in place on the wall or shelf or take it down. This means that you can take a modern bath in a modern way, just at the time and place. It suits you best. All this means that you can

Convert Any Room Into a Bath-Room

By simply installing the ALLEN PORTABLE BATH APPARATUS. It does away with wash bowls, buckets, basins, tubs—with wash rags and sponges—does away with the old time inconveniences and venience. We can't tell you in his short space all the remarkable features of his remarkable inventions. Such things will be thoroughly explained by representatives who will call on the residents of Ada.

In addition to the Allen Portable Bath Apparatus we can supply Bath Room Outfits which exceed all other known methods for convenience, quickness and correct hygiene and scientific effects without extra plumbing cost. These outfits range in price from $10 to $50.00. Certainly no one should be without these luxuries when they can be secured at so small a cost.

FOUNDER'S DAY AT BACONE COLLEGE

For some years past it has been in the minds of some at Bacone that there should be one day in the school year set aside as founder's day accordingly the 22nd of April was designated for this purpose for this year.

A special service in chapel was observed.

Led by the college orchestra the entire student body joined in the singing, of America Mrs. C. L. Steele then sang a beautiful solo with a violin obligato. This solo was appreciated by all and was a fitting introduction to the reading of the "Preamble of the Sower" as recorded by Luke after which President Collette led in prayer. Miss Katherine Dietz then rendered a splendid violin solo. Dr. F. B. Pyte of Muskogee who was well acquainted with President B. B. B. was to have been with us but owing to other duties it was not possible for him to be present. Miss Ella M. Hayes who has charge of mathematics and German kindly consented to speak at President B. B. B. and his work here. Miss Hayes having taught here since the fall of 1901 is more familiar than any other member of the faculty with the work of this truly great man. She spoke concerning his real life and his work in connection with the male seminary at Tahlequah the desire of his heart that there should be a Christian in addition for the young people and finally the founding of Indian University in 1880 and the opening with but three pupils the location at B. B. B. near the trading post known as Muskogee in 1880 and the growth of the school to the present day. Following Mrs. Hayes President Collette made a few remarks touching upon the devotion to duty and the Christian characteristics as gathered from those who knew Pres. B. B. B. It is true that all who were with him as teachers or pupils had the utmost respect for him. All loved him for his motives and thoughts were all times pure and noble.

A brief summary of some of the work was given which was very interesting since the founding in 1880 twenty nine years ago there have been 2922 enrolled making an average for the year of 101 during this time there have been forty six college graduates and an interesting item in this connection is that the Indians and whites are equally divided there have been 217 academic graduates in the same period of time.

It was suggested that it be the custom for the graduating class of each year to keep the grave and lot of our honored founder and president in good condition this will be a slight token of our esteem for him and his work. It was stated that it possible a better picture would be placed on the chapel wall.

The service was concluded with a selection by the college orchestra. The closing of this day this year will be the closing of our living and much more let us strive to be the best that we can be in the future.

RESTITUTION

From Oklahoma Baptist Journal
Recently at K-K we often found a bird imprisoned in the church building. And time and again the poor frightened creature would dash against a window only to fall back bruised and bleeding—a gradual suicide when all the while there was one certain and safe way of escape namely the way it had come which, in this case was through the chimney and furnace.

How like many a successful Christian who suddenly finds himself imprisoned in Jovian's Castle. His accustomed freedom is in plain view. Yet at each determined dash some fiendish invisible giant hurls him back crippled and defeated. But all too while unlike the bird conscience is saying to the man. Inquire for the old path retrace your steps and the exit where you entered there is no other way. Now where did he enter the cheerless abode of a powerless life? There is but one answer. Where he sinned. He may call it a little sin but let him see it through God's eyes and if possible make restitution for it. Let him take this way out and, suddenly he will find himself basking in the open sunlight of God's presence.
